Can I get a loan without a business history?

▶ FINANCIAL KNOW HOW

In many cases, you can. While each business is different, there are many situations where you can get credit without a business history or formal business projections. The first step is to sit down together and discuss your specific plans and goals. That allows me to identify strategies and financial solutions that are appropriate for you. It's helpful if you bring your last two Notices of Assessment and your latest tax return. I've seen many different circumstances where businesses need access to cash in a hurry - for instance, to meet seasonal demand or a large unexpected order.
